what if you could make a difference?

would you? what if there were no expectations? would you still work hard when it's always strange?

what if they don't? now, what are you going to do about it...

What if?

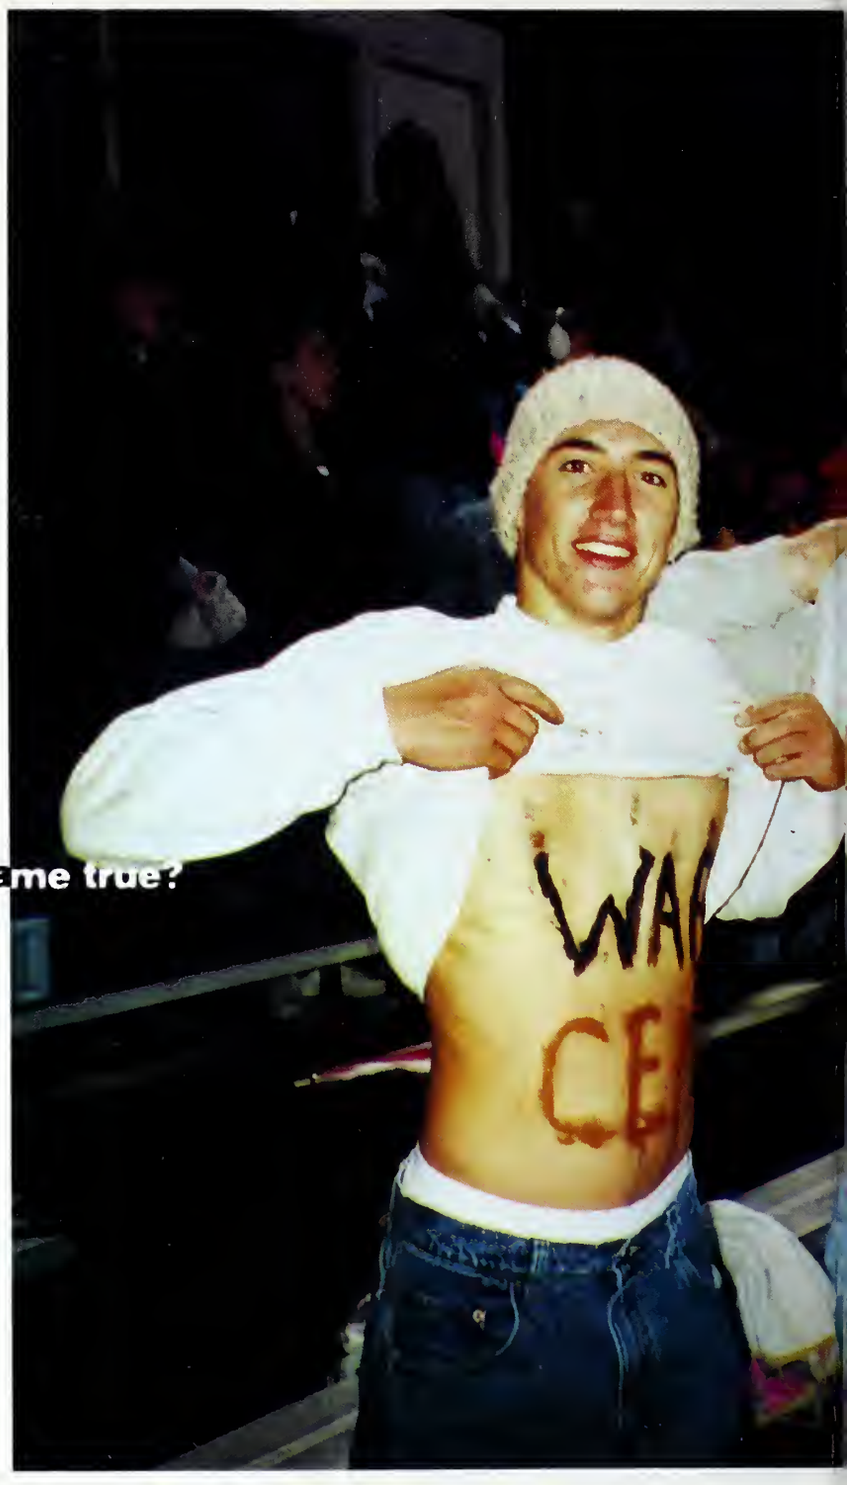
What if we could all be someone's hero?



What if all your dreams came true?

What if?

What if?

What if?

What if?

Ok these were those "special" high school days. Are you happy with what you accomplished? Were you glad the way things turned out? You had a good time didn't you? Did you go on a date? Did you fall in love? Did you have school spirit? Were you the one everyone heard screaming in the stands? Did you ever cry? Do you wish you hadn't? Were things ever really that bad? Did you make someone laugh? Did you do something you might regret? Were you ever taking a BIG risk by doing something crazy? Hopefully, by now we have got your A T T E N T I O N! Think about what you did and didn't do this year? What will you want to forget? What will you want to remember?

So what's going on? Well, we have a message to convey to you, an attitude to reflect, an image to depict. If you are part of mainstream America then you may look at this and gasp.

SO WHO CARES WHAT YOU THINK.

This is all part of a bigger picture, it is extreme - So DoN't AsK wHy. Maybe just this once, you don't need to know the answer.
-from Blip in the Continuum

Everyone will look at this year in a different way...

Preparing backstage in the dressing room for the school's fall play Wind of a Thousand Tales, Lindsey Lenkensdofer and Soledad Perez add the final touches to their makeup. In the spring, students also performed The Wizard of Oz. Both of the plays took place in the school's performing arts center. photo by Danielle Wilson

Being led by Mike Schwarz the soccer team made their way on to the field while preparing for the Sectional Championship game. The team won their first ever Regional Championship in the school's history. The athletic teams strived for success with hardwork and desire throughout the year. photo by Danielle Wilson

Seniors gathered together for an evening of carolling in Atrium Village to spread the Christmas Spirit. Afterwards, they sipped on warm co coa and ate doughnuts in the school cafeteria while discussing the highlights of their year so far. This special event was just one of the things organized by the senior class officers. photo by Tim McGowan

During the pep rally the cheerleading squad performed a routine, along with many cheers, including a yell-off contest between grade levels. The rally lifted students spirits going into the game that night against the Carmel Greyhounds, and brought closure to an exciting week of memorable events. photo by Angie Montgomery

Although the seniors were unable to get the lift to work during hall decorations, they rose to the occasion and joined together to make sure their decorations were visible by the entire student body. The seniors not only united during hall decorations, but throughout the year, leading the way for underclassmen by setting a positive example. photo by Jaime Buffalari

How did you see it?

Were involved?

what if i could be on the homecoming court? what if we won goofy games?

Let you tell it...

It felt really great to win the arm wrestling contest. I had a great time even though everyone was looking at me. The best part of the contest was winning.
-sophomore Phaedra Smith

The students really enjoy the fun, and the contestants really try to put on a good show! I chose to participate in the contest because I thought it would an interesting surprise for the kids.
-Mr. Steve Kent

I really enjoyed spirit week. My favorite day was 70's day. I borrowed my outfit from a neighbor down the street. If I had to make my own spirit day I would make it 80's day.
-sophomore Andy St. Laurent

The best part of the contest was when I was getting ready to arm wrestle, because when I was making my introduction my exotic dancing was making everyone scream.
-junior Ray Willis

I thought it was really funny when Ann Grill and Leah Lepper shaved Tracey Meyer's legs. That was probably the best part of the bonfire. I'll remember it for a long time.
-senior Joe Scott

All the spirit everyone showed was overwhelming. I will remember getting out on the track to cheer and looking up at all the paper throwing, screaming, and excited fans.

Let you tell it...

I really enjoyed being in guard. Our homecoming show wasn't one of our best shows, but we did pretty good. It is a great memory from my senior year.
-senior Tammy Hartle

My thoughts were to go out, have fun, and play a good game. We were as prepared as a team could be and very focused. Winning the game gave us confidence in knowing that we could do anything we put our hearts to.
-senior Jimmie Ellison

I was the 'advisor' for the hall decorating contest for the freshmen. I had a great time all week. I can't wait until next year's homecoming.
-freshman Jessica Clark

The blocked punt by Mike Major was the play that turned the game to our favor. Until then we were tied and heading for overtime. We needed this game to pick up some confidence going into the playoffs.
-coach Vince Guerini

I enjoyed dancing and being with my friends. The only thing that could make the dance better is making it longer. The activities during the week just added to the fun.
-junior Darinda Westbrook

The best thing about the homecoming game was the crowd because all the old football players and fans from last year came back to see the '96 football team play.

Let you tell it...

The fact that I'm a senior and this would be the last pep rally and just being able to be loud and enjoy myself made this pep rally really fun. When I'm gone I will miss the unity of the classes and the competitions.
-senior Stephanie Parrish

I participated in the float decorating because I wanted to express myself and support the class of '99. My favorite part of winterfest week was Friday because I liked wearing my tight black and gold clothing.
-sophomore John Sponsel

They chose me to handcuff Ms. Plummer because every year she gets picked for the pie in the face and she always seems to get out of it, but this year they wanted to get her good. She says that she's going to get me back.
-Officer George

I felt good, like I knew we would beat the juniors in tug of war. There isn't a class that can get with us, the senior class, because we are 'bout it. I knew we would win!
-senior James Harney

I decided to do "Jailhouse Rock" because I had done it before and everyone enjoyed it. I was happy that people enjoyed my act. I felt special that all of the upper classmen and freshmen were all cheering.
-freshman David Hosei

During winterfest week there is excitement in the air; school spirit is at its peak. This week builds unity, it brings the school together as one. Personally, I get satisfaction from the Student Council because it's like we are giving birth to the events that go on.
-Mrs. Beth Wolff

QUEEN Shawnya McCray

"Being crowned winterfest queen meant to me that I am looked upon by my classmates as someone they like."

KING Willie White

"Being nominated for winterfest court made me feel good and also let me know that I have a lot of friends."

Nominees for the winterfest princes and princesses, and king and queen line up on the stairs to the old foyer during the dance. Each had hopes of being picked to be on the winterfest court for their grade.

WINTERFEST GAME

OPPONENT

Carmel Greyhounds

SCORE WC 68, CHS 75

THEME Grind the Greyhounds

The game against the Carmel Greyhounds became more than a basketball game, it became a family rivalry, father versus son. Coach Scott Heady went head to head in coaching combat against his father, Bob Heady.

WINTERFEST DANCE

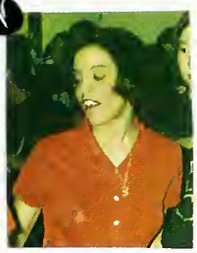
Friday, January 31, 9:00 p.m.

During a break in the game, Coach Heady gives the Warriors a much needed pep talk to get them focused. "We put out a good effort but in the second half our shooting was off and the Greyhounds played one of their best games," stated Heady. photo by Leigh Ann Webb

Before the big game the boys huddle in a circle to pump up and prepare for the tough team that they will soon be facing. The Warriors put out a great effort and played a good game though they were defeated by Carmel. photo by Prestige Portraits

After the game the students met in the old foyer to dance the hours away to a variety of popular music. Dances are a chance to get together with friends and have fun, and that is exactly what these students did. photo by Prestige Portraits

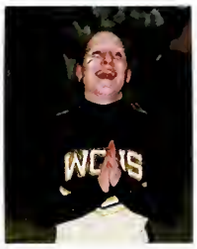
Let you tell it...



Despite the problems, despite the stress, despite the tension going on in school, a dance always gives us the opportunity to relax, to let go, and to be real with each other. Being a senior, I have a lot more to let go and I never hesitate to get my groove on."
-senior Shanna Jackson

It's important to support the basketball team because the team needs support and does a lot better when they get it, so I give it to them by doing cheers and screaming my lungs out.
-junior Chris Weaver

I was excited and shocked when I found out that I was nominated for the winterfest dance court. I enjoyed the dance because I didn't really get a chance to go to the other things.
-freshman Niki Adamson



The entire week of winterfest is designed to increase school spirit, so by Friday the fans are ready to cheer on our team. I think the dance afterwards also helped to increase attendance at the game.
-senior Ann Grill

I think I contributed to the team in the game against Carmel by playing a good defensive game. We might have been able to have changed the outcome in the game if we would have played harder in the second half.
-senior Jeff Hintz

Yes, the players are more into the winterfest game than the other games. It adds atmosphere which helps any game. I think it makes the players more energized so the intensity picks up.

Let you tell it...

Warren Central's Waleed Voices of Unity powerfully performs a song during the Gospel Explosion. The choir sang many spiritual songs praising the Lord. photo by Tim McGowan

It is important for others to know that conference is not just a gathering of minority students, it is a learning experience. It allows me to learn what I can accomplish if I put my mind to it.
-junior Keia Haskins

The conference took a lot of hard work, on the part of the leadership team, to plan. The most important part of the conference was the unity that was in the school all week.
-junior Jason Lee

The conference is designed to expose minority students and other students to the positive contributions African Americans have made and are making to our country and world.
-Mr. James Smith

I would say conference is a lot of fun, but also educational. It's a chance to hear from older people who worked hard to make it better for us. I enjoyed just being able to converse on a more serious level with my peers.
-junior Mike Brooks

Waleed all together means a lot, and I put a lot of my time and effort into the conference and the Gospel Explosion together so the conference being successful means I'm successful.
-sophomore Lori Johnson

I enjoyed most listening to the men talk about the Million Man March and watching the video. It meant a lot listening to Dorothy Cotton talk about the past. The conference was a good learning experience.

WHERE TO GO

according to students: top five hot spots for teens to go on Spring Break

1. Florida
2. Chicago, Illinois
3. L.A., California
4. Cancun, Mexico
5. Atlanta, Georgia

To add some excitement to their week junior Liz Parsons and sophomore Jenny Evans took a cruise on a jet ski. Along with the other fun activities, jet skiing was a popular way to spend time and money.

HOW MUCH MONEY

To see the world from a bird's eye view some students broke free and went parasailing. Seniors Deardra White and Mindy Swan thought it would be a new and exciting experience to go parasailing. White said, "It was really cool being so high in the air and looking down at all the beautiful scenery."

Sophomore Katie Spilker poses for a picture before skiing down a slope in Jackson Hole, Wyoming. During their vacation, Spilker's family skied at the Tarngee Snow Resort and the Jackson Hole Snow Resort. They also spent a day snowmobiling in the Teton pass.

Deciding to do something out of the ordinary, senior Margarita Serrano goes on a dolphin tour and gets to feed fish to the dolphins. "It was a cool experience being that close to a dolphin, because before that the closest I'd been was seeing one through the glass at the zoo," said Serrano.

Let you tell it...

Getting a chance to be with some of my best friends for an entire week made this year's spring break important. This is probably the last vacation I'll take with these friends, so it was very special.
-senior Heather Stevens

The best part of spring break was the girls and the parties. I partied all week long and hung out with girls from different states.
-junior Brian McClure

After a week of being with the same people everyone wanted to go out and do their own thing on the last day. There were a few arguments between everyone, but for the most part everyone got along great.
-senior Brad Sparks

This year's spring break was better than last year because we weren't in boring old Indy. I will remember most how pretty the island was. I promise I've never seen anything like it and the awesome sunsets.
- junior Jessica Nagle

The best part of spring break was going across the Texas border to Mexico and experiencing a different culture. We spent a lot of time in the ocean and relaxing at our condo.
-senior Steffany Thompson

The best part of my trip to Las Vegas was the excitement of everything, all the bright lights, the people, and the sound of casinos 24 hours a day. Now I can say that I've been somewhere that people have actually heard of.

Let you tell it...

Taking a breathalyzer test isn't as easy as it looks. You have to breathe into the machine for what seems like an incredibly long time. On the other hand it's sterile, painless, and I can't think of any reason not to do it if the officer requests you to.
-senior Tina Kennedy

Kings Island was dreary. It was fun, but not what it could have been. The rain and dark skies brought down the happy mood from the night before.
-senior Nikki Barrow

Some people were reluctant to be 'killed' and others were excited they were picked by the Grim Reaper. The personal importance of not drinking and driving is waking up here on earth the next day.
-senior Gina Whitmore

The best part of prom was buying my dress, getting ready, and seeing everyone dressed up. I'll remember the people I went with and the seniors that I'm going to miss.
-junior Kelly Oertel

I went to prom because I was asked by a nice young lady, and I couldn't refuse. It will always be memorable to me because for one night we got all dressed up like adults, but still had fun like kids always do.
-sophomore Rodney Pittman

Even though I was really tired from partying the night before, I had a really good time at King's Island with my friends.

Let you tell it...

My favorite part of senior week was Middle School Alma Mater Day. It brought back a lot of old memories and gave me a chance to see the crazy, too tight, too small, and outdated clothes we had to wear.
-senior Kedrick Toles

My favorite part of Senior Week was taking the pictures outside. This year went by really fast, but it was the best year I've had here. I will always remember the friends I made here.
-senior Anna Lake

I really thought that the senior luncheon was absolutely fantastic!! Just remember I love you all and the party never stops.
-senior Chad Browning

All the special senior programs were great, they really made it hit home that I was graduating. I'm looking forward to getting away to start all over at college and meeting new friends.
-senior Kelly Pratt

After graduation, I'm looking forward to attending I.U. Seeing all my old friends and spending time with all sorts of people is something I've been looking forward to. Next year begins the rest of my life.
-senior Angela Owens

This life is the only one you're given so look for opportunities to grow and never be discouraged in your efforts. The true measure of success lies not so much in what you have achieved but in whether you have made a difference.

Let you tell it...

I will remember being editor of the newspaper and all the fun and crazy times we had working on the paper. I will also remember the entire overwhelming experince of being a senior and how exciting, stressful, and rewarding it has been.
-senior Heather Hagan

I am looking forward to leaving my house and going away to college. I will remember everything about this year, but most of all I will remember this year's prom. I just want to say 'good luck in the future to all my fellow seniors'.
-senior Kelly Narmore

I was surprised to be honored as this year's salutatorian. It felt so unreal to realize I had made it. To the juniors I want to say, don't forget to work hard. It all pays off in the end.
-senior Susan Fairhead

Our class was great, everyone stuck by one another and helped each other out, and no one put anyone down. After graduation I plan to go to college at IUPUI and major in criminal justice.
-senior Erick Virt

From my senior year here at Warren I will remember most the Christmas dance, the Prom, and all my friends
-senior Tom Elliott

SENIOR

1997

Ms. Widgreen

Advisor

"The class of 1997 is truly color blind. Individually they are very diverse, but as a class they are one. They have really set an example for others to follow. The senior class officers always had an endless supply of energy and ideas. Each year as a senior sponser I get tired. This year I'm more tired than ever. The class of '97 just doesn't wear out."

Marques Crain

President

Activities: Basketball 10th-11th, Stu. Co. 9th-12th, DECA 10th-12th, Principal's Advisory Council 9th-12th, 8th grade Orientation 11th-12th, and Peer Facilitator 12th.
Personal Quote: "The vision of college has been the constant guide through the dangerous, temptation filled, and frustrating forest called Senior Year!"
Future Plans: Go to Indiana University and major in Business.

Chong Walters

Vice President

Activities: Campus Life 9th, Publications 9th, NJHS 9th, Gymnastics 10th, Just Say No 10th, Cheerleading 9th-12th, Musical 9th-12th, Dance Ensemble 11th-12th, Connection 11th-12th, NHS 11th-12th, Stu. Co. 10th-12th, and STARS 12th.
Personal Quote: "My advice to the junior class is to take pride in Warren and make it the best it can be!"
Future Plans: Go to Butler and major in Music Business.

Cathy Le

Treasurer

Activities: Soccer 9th, NHS 9th-12th, Stu. Co. 11th-12th, STARS 11th-12th, REACH 12, Newspaper 9th-12th, and Tennis 9th-11th.
Personal Quote: "High school has been full of overwhelming trials and deserving triumphs, but now I can only look to the future and hope I will be able to succeed the challenges ahead."
Future Plans: Go to Indiana University and major in Biochemistry with hopes of receiving a docterine, specializing in Pediatrics.

Angie Walters

Secretary

Activities: Cheerleading 9th, Basketball 10th, Spanish Club 10th, Waleed 10th, Highlights 11th-12th, Radio 10th-12th, STARS 12th, Stu. Co. 10th-12th, and Track 9th-11th.
Personal Quote: "Good luck to all seniors as we proceed through life. I'll miss all of you!"
Future Plans: Go to Ball State and major in Telecommunications.

Q:

What kind of activities did your club sponsor ?

Waleed sponsored community activities, like working as peers to small children or visiting seniors and orphanages. They preformed at local churches and community events, sponsored a Kwanza celebration, and went to workshops.

What is your mission statement ?

"To provide minority and all other interested students with an opportunity to participate in a school organization that meets their culturally specific needs, thereby enhancing their self-image and increasing their potential for success," - Mr. J. P. Smith

What was the biggest benefit of the Hidden Fire Conference?

"For everyone to unite and learn about ourselves, and to better ourselves for the future to become successful," - President April Harvey

FCA

Q: What were some of the activites FCA sponsered?

A: Spring and fall retreats, Prayer at the Pole, bible studies and get togethers.

Jen Smoth[illegible]s, Laura S[illegible]illman, and Tim Helfrich join in at FCA's prayer at the pole. Prayer at the pole was one of FCA's annual activities. photo by Danielle Wilson

Foreign Language

How has being a member of your club helped you to learn about culture?

" Spanish club helped me understand the Spanish way of life and how it may differ from our own culture and way of life." Carlye Fielden

What was your favorite club activity this year?

Many students enjoyed the halloween activity, where all clubs got together for a pumpkin carving. German club students liked making Valentine cards for the kids at Riley.

What did you do?

√ All foreign language clubs got together for a pumpkin carving at Halloween.

√ German club made valentine's day cards for patients at Riley Hospital for children.

√ Waleed and Kappa League sponsored the hidden fire conference. The week included a gospel explosion and an in school conference. Guest speaker Dr. Dorothy Cotton, who worked with Dr. martin Luther King Jr., spoke to students on bettering themselves.

Kappa League

What was your favorite Kappa League activity this year?

"My favorite activity was 'Stepshow '96' presented by the Kappa League. It gave the Kappa League a chance to show what they can do. We also collected canned goods for the needy." - Jomar Banks

How does Kappa League prepare you for the real world?

"It helps you prepare for adult life. It gives you leadership skills while also having a lot of fun. It also teaches you to respect women, others, and elders." - Carl VanRooy

Who are Kappa League's officers?

Officers are president Terrance Coleman, vice-president Jomar Banks, treasurer Tim Hughes, Sgt. of arms Marshall Schumpard, historian Charles Marshall, and public relations officer Jerry Miller

Thomas Hutcheson gives a ride to one of the children attending the children's Christmas party. First period classes and clubs sponsored kids and sent representatives to the party. photo by Danielle Wilson.

Do you think the children's Christmas party is important? What was your favorite part of the night?

Q:

"Yes, it is a great experience for the children and for all involved. My favorite part of the night is when the children opened their presents and their faces lit up." - Leah Lepper

What student council activities benefited the community most?

Some of student council's main projects this year were the canned food drive, the children's Christmas party, gift wrapping for the American Kidney Foundation, and the blood drive.

Who are the student council officers?

Officers are president Katie Donges, vice president Ben Horner, historian Ann Grill, activities coordinator Leah Lepper, secretary Rachel Carr, and treasurer Margarita Serrano.

Just Say No

Why is it important to have a club like Just Say No?

"Just Say No clubs give students who do not do drugs a chance to escape the pressures of those who do. It's like a family."
- Jessica Oliver

How do you think your activities help the elementary children?

"I think that if we get the word out early enough to kids who do drugs, or who may be pressured to do drugs in the future, that possibly the rate of kids dying from drugs might go down. We give the kids a positive influence and someone to talk to if they need to and can't talk to teachers or parents."
- Angie McHaffey

Earth Team

What is the Envirathon?

It is a statewide competition where teams of five students answer questions in each of five categories - wildlife, forestry, soil, water, and environmental issues.

What are some of the other activities that Earth Team does other than recycling?

Earth Team hauled four tons of woodchips into the warren woods over a period of six weeks and made bird feeders out of recycled pop bottles. The bird feeders were sold to help fund the club's other projects.

Shaamora Harden serves a patron at the East 10th Street Methodist church. Honor society sent workers to help with the church's weekly soup line, which relies on volunteers from different organizations to serve the free meals. photo by Vicki Oliver

Do you think the Christmas dance was a success?

"The Christmas dance was definitely a success. We spent a lot time organizing and decorating, and the dance was extremely beautiful."
- Laura Spillman

What were some NHS activities this year?

Some activities were trick-or-treating with children from the Guardian's Home, sponsoring a child at the children's Christmas party, bell ringing for the salvation army, tutoring after school, gift wrapping for a local church, and baby-sitting for Warren Township.

Where does NHS find projects to do?

"We go where we are needed. Different kinds of organizations ask for our services, such as nursing homes, the Guardian's Home, soup kitchens, and other nonprofit organizations."
- Kelly Huntsman

The school day just wasn't long enough for some students, so they furthered their academics with after school competitions and meetings.

STARS

Q: How often do you tutor? How do you help the students you work with?

"I tutor about 3-4 days a week. I help the students get a better understanding of what they are doing and encourage them not to give up." - Elisabeth Hawrylkiewicz

"At least once or twice a week. I help the students by making sure they push themselves to achieve better grades." - Elizabeth Smith

How do you benefit from tutoring?

"Colleges look for people who have helped others to achieve. This shows leadership skills." - Michelle Jackson

Brain Game

How did Brain Game do this year? How do you feel about the performance?

"We lost our first outing against Southport. When a Brain Game team loses any match, the season is over. We were disappointed, of course. However, ours was a new team. We have a great deal of potential."
- sponsor Rick Reed

How did the team improve as the year progressed?

"We learned how to work as a team, and learned how to analyze our weaknesses. Even though we didn't compete physically, we were still fairly aggressive, and were able to overcome most adversity that affected us at the beginning of the year."
- Megan Hauser

What did you contribute to the team this year? Why did you join?

"I contributed general knowledge. Other people had specialty areas in science, English, etc. My area was miscellaneous. I joined because I was interested in meeting Bob Gregory. That was my real motive."
- Vince Amlin

Science Olympiad

Q: How did Science Olympiad do in this year's regional competition?

The team placed fifth over all at Butler's regional competition, barely missing a chance to advance to the state level.

How often did you practice?

Practices were held weekly after school, but members worked on individual projects at home.

What kinds of competitions do you do?

Science Olympiad competed in many different regional events. Each event contained many events pertaining to science, including "Bridge Building," "Mission Possible," "Surfing the Net," "Nature Quest," and chemistry labs.

Nathan Hawkins adds weight to test his creation during the "Bridge Building" event at the regional competition. Bridges were tested and rated according to how much weight they could support. photo by Frank Bynum

Other competitions

√ Students competed in the annual Spell Bowl held in September.

√ Warren sent five teams of students to the annual Academic Super Bowl in April. The teams competed in each of six different categories: math, science, English, social studies, fine arts and interdisciplinary, which combined the other subjects. Each year's Super Bowl has a theme that all questions are related to; this year's theme was "Asia."

Boredom Busters

Q: Why is it important to have a club like Boredom Busters?

Boredom Busters gives special education students a chance to participate in activities and school functions with fellow classmates instead of their families.

What kind of activites do you do?

Some of this year's activities were bowling, swimming at Raymond Park, skating, Pacer games and Ice games.

How do students benefit?

"Some special ed. students would not have a social life other than family if it were not for clubs like this." - Boredom Busters sponsor

Mrs. Jamison looks on as a Boredom Buster member bobs for apples at their fall meeting. The meetings helped students learn how to get along with each other while having fun at the same time. photo by Michelle Jackson

Whether the news was broadcast, debated or published, many students eventually realized that communication was the key.

WEDM

Angie Walters checks on the music at the winter dance. In addition to sporting events, WEDM members worked as disc jockeys for some area dances. photo by Nate Wagner

Q: What are some of the activities that WEDM is involved with? How do these activities help students?

The WEDM radio club does football and basketball play-by-plays, on- air personalities, and broadcasts for other events in the community. All activities are geared at preparing students for careers in radio, TV, or mass communication.

How did you get into broadcasting?

"I want to be a radio broadcaster, and I thought it would be interesting." - Josh Howard.

"I am interested in a career in film. I also find broadcasting emotionally fulfilling." - Kelly Wiggs

Speech & Debate

How did you help the team, and how did you benefit?

"I contributed by always bringing things they would forget, i.e. cards, games, blankets. Through the team, my writing talents have improved and my friends and I have grown a lot closer." - Mandie Little

What goes on during a speech meet?

"Our team arrives about an hour early to prepare for the meet and to relax. We receive our numbers and look on the rosters to see who we are debating and if we are affirmative or negative in the debate. We have about four debates every meet."
- Amy Reasoner

How do you feel about this year's performance?

"I think we did good for a team our size because there are a lot of bigger teams."
- Bernita Prater

Newspaper

How much work goes into producing one paper?

"It takes approximately one month to produce one paper. A ton of work goes into each issue. When we have things planned out in advance, it's not so bad, but it's still very stressful and time-consuming."
- Heather Hagan

How do you think having a newspaper benefits the school?

"Certain things help the school's reputation, and the newspaper is one of them. Students receive a better knowledge of the school through the newspaper."
- Erika Swan

How did you place?

√ At Ball State's annual Journalism Day students attended classes, heard a keynote speech by newscaster Tom Cochran, and went to an awards ceremony for publications from around the state. Heather Ressler won a first place in yearbook advertising ; last year's book was also given an honorable mention in overall yearbook design.

√ In newspaper, honorable mentions were given to Heather Hagan for editorial writing and Amanda Mauer for sports photography. Third place awards were given to Michelle Yarbrough for advertising, Tammy Jones for feature photography, and Matt Griggs for news photography. For the second year in a row, Matt Forbes received a first place award in cartooning.

Yearbook

Why did you join the yearbook staff?

"I joined yearbook because I was interested in the staff and how things worked. I also enjoyed my journalism class so I decided to continue being in journalism."
-Jessica Nagle

Why do you think having a yearbook is important?

"A yearbook is important because it provides the student body with a record of events that took place during the year, along with the attitude or feeling that year projected."
- Angie Hancock

What is the hardest part of producing a book?

"Sometimes you don't get things like quotes and questionarres back from people, and it's hard to fix all of the details."
- Mike Turner

Frank Edwards leads the wicked witch's helpers, the winkies, across the stage. Many actors played more than one part, including winkies, crows, and citizens of the land of Oz. photo by Leigh Ann Webb

Q: How long and how often do you rehearse? Is all the practice worth the result?

" Rehearsal is usually two or three hours everyday for two or three months. The first few rehearsals are fun, but as time goes on it gets tiring. But once the show starts it's ten times better than your best rehearsal."
- Kris Owens

How did you get into acting? Are you planning a career in it, or is it a hobby?

" I'm always acting dramatic, and when I was younger my parents sent me to drama camp. For now it's just a hobby but someday it may be more."
- Katie Jay

What did you think?

"I think our performances this year were great. We had a lot of fun doing them, and I think we all worked together really well. What made the performances so successful was the fact that we all worked so hard to make them that way."
- Tara Clark, Readers' Theatre

"I thought my performance in Wind of a Thousand Tales was one of my best, even though I had a small part. After the play, everyone told me that my walk as a "poopsie" completed the character. The performances were successful because the cast worked well together and for the most part got along great. We all clicked, and that made the play special."
- Sara Long, Wind of a Thousand Tales

"I feel that everything turned out great. The thing that I did especially well was the way I portrayed Professor Marvel's character. I really enjoyed it. We had a very talented cast and crew." - Jomar Banks, The Wizard of Oz

Stage Crew

How long did it take to build the scenes for the spring musical?

Scenes for The Wizard of Oz took around 2-3 months to build.

Besides building the sets, how does stage crew help with the play?

In addition to building sets, stage crew works on the lighting, sound, props, and special effects. "We all spent a long time doing the tech rehearsals. We not only built it, but we put it together" - Karen Gruenert

Are you satisfied with the amount of credit that stage crew gets for the work they do on the plays?

"No, I don't think stage crew gets all the credit they deserve. We do a lot of work and don't get credit from some of the actors" - Jamie Whitmore

Amanda Cottrell (left) and Kylie Reed cut wood to make the witch's cauldrons for the spring musical, The Wizard of Oz. It took about three hours to make each of the two cauldrons, which were also used to spout fire for the wizard. photo by Danielle Wilson

Mackenzie Vickery "masks" the side of the stage to create a rocky terrain for the fall play, Wind of a Thousand Tales. photo by Danielle Wilson

What did you perform?

√ The fall play was Wind of a Thousand Tales, a story about a little girl who doesn't believe in imagination. The Wind of a Thousand Tales takes her to Nowhere and the Breezes tell her stories to spark her imagination. The play included stories, dance, and music from three different countries.

√ The spring musical was The Wizard of Oz. Cast members rehearsed for nearly three months, 2-3 hours a day. Each of the three performances, two evenings and a Sunday matinee, were nearly sold out.

√ Readers' Theatre's largest show is the children's show. Students prepare everything, including scripts, props, costumes, and publicity. This year's show was "Mother Goose Star Search Spectacular."

Readers' Theatre

How often do you perform? What is your largest show?

Readers' Theatre does about 40-50 shows a year, and performs for over 14,000 people. Their largest show is the children's show, where students organize everything from the script to the publicity.

How long does it take to put a show together?

The practice time for a big show is about three months. "We don't do mediocre. We don't settle for average," said Mrs. Bravard. For every minute of performance, an hour of practice is required.

Q:

How do you benefit from working with the children? How do you think the students benefit?

"I have learned a lot about the children and how to react in different situations. The children learn to respect older people and everyone else. They also learn to cooperate and share with other kids." - Holly Theobald

In what ways does SET club prepare you for the future?

"We get a chance to get out and teach. We can really decide if this is what we want to do in college and later in life." - Allyson Keller

What kind of activities do you do with the children?

"We play different types of games that deal with the holiday and/or season, and we make crafts with them." - Tania Purdy

Machine Trades

How do you benefit from an organization like Machine Trades?

"I benefit from this class in several ways. Machine Trades helped me realize the need for skilled workers and gave me the training I need to get a good job. I have learned to use machines that will prepare me for an apprenticeship program." - Jason Stephan

What activities have you done this year?

"The activities I have competed in include the Indiana Vincinnes Machines competition and VICA regional and state competitions. In regionals I placed third." - Jason Scott

How does Machine Trades help prepare you for your future career?

"This class benefits me because it helps me with my career in motorsports. We went to Team Scandia, an IRL and World Sportscar racing team, where I was offered a job." - Jay Creech

Upward Bound

What kind of activities does Upward Bound do?

"Upward Bound is a college prep program. We meet on Tuesday and Wednesday from 3-5 for tutoring, and during the summer we stay on campus at IUPUI, going to school and getting the full effect of college life. We also participate in an Olympiad with other Upward Bound students across the state of Indiana. This summer our Olympiad will be held at Purdue University."
- Jessica Ramirez

What do you think was the best activity this year? What have you learned?

"The trip to Chicago. We explored many different museums and learned a lot. You get to learn more about yourself and others."
- Raemika Thomas

How else did you prepare?

√ Machine Trades and VICA prepare students in vocational skills to compete in regional and state precision machining competitions. The largest competition is the VICA Skills Olympics, held in March.

√ Business Professionals of America gives members an early start on their future by preparing them for business careers today. Along with learning the skills, students get a chance to compete in various categories, including office assistant, administration specialist, economic awareness, and parliamentary procedure.

√ Upward Bound prepares it's members by living on the IUPUI campus for six weeks during the summer. They attend classes and learn about college life through experience.

Business Professionals of America

What is your mission statement?

Business Professionals of America's goal is to contribute to the preparation of a world-class workforce through the advancement of leadership, citizenship, academics, and technological skills.

How does Business Professionals of America prepare you for the future?

"It gets students involved in activities that will help them in a career after graduation. By being in this organization you learn skills of dependability, and I have learned to be professional in all my endeavors. The benefit of learning these skills in high school is that I will be ahead of others entering the work force at the same time."
- Rachel Carr

It's home for four years

choosing the right college for you

One of the hardest decisions a teenager will make during high school is what to do afterwards. Some work right away while others decide to go on to college. Choosing the right college can sometimes be very difficult. There are many factors involved in choosing a college right for you.

The size of the school is a good starting point. Do you want to attend a school where everybody knows your name, or a school where all you are is a number? There are pros and cons to both. A large school usually has more to offer. There are more clubs and organizations, more majors are offered, and of course, more offerings for your social life. Advantages of a smaller school are individualized attention by professors and it can be easier to meet people.

The academic challenge of a school also needs to be considered. Your desire and work ethic contribute to this decision. Some schools such as Yale, Northwestern or Harvard are more competitive than others and demand a much higher quality of student. If you don't want to put too much pressure on yourself it would probably be better for you to attend a less challenging college.

Choosing the right college is not an easy decision, but it is not one that should be made harder than it really is. The most important thing for you to know is yourself; what type of atmosphere do you need to have a successful experience? Remember that wherever you choose to go, it's going to be home for the next four years.

If you have any college experience, you can earn as much as $140,000 more over the course of your career than if you only have a high school diploma.

At Purdue University several things are offered during a campus visit. During an individual visit they can explain the admissions process, arrange a tour, direct you to other campus offices, and schedule a classroom visit. Purdue also has scheduled preview days in which an information fair is hosted, along with a tour, a session on admissions and financial aid, and academic school sessions.

College Visitation

Before making a decision on going to college everyone should make on-site visits to see what certain colleges have to offer. At IU students are urged to visit the campus while classes are in session. They offer discussion time with departmental representatives, visitation of a residence center, and walking tours. If planning to visit IU in the future, it is wise to call ahead of time so that they have time to make special arrangements for you.

Karisa Haller:
"I visited Eastern Michigan just for fun one weekend and I ended up really liking the campus. By going to an out of state school I will get to meet new people, and I won't be so far away that I can't come home."

Stacey Boots:
" I am planning to go to Miami of Ohio. I want to be able to meet a lot of new people. I also want to go to a smaller school, and one that has a gymnastics team. Miami of Ohio has everything that I'm looking for."

Amber Wright:
"I chose the University of Tennessee for several reasons. One is that they just finished the new medical center which has attracted doctors from all over the world. Another plus is the moderate year-round temperatures."

Chris Mohler:
"Going out of state for me is an easy decision. It allows me to experience new places, people, and environments, which will help me push my boundaries as a person and help me be more well-rounded."

Fraternity/Sorority Life:

Upon arrival at college, one aspect that is hard to miss is Greek life. The decision to join a fraternity or sorority depends on what you are looking for. At small colleges, not being part of the Greek system can make for some pretty boring times (many of the activities are centered around sorority and frat functions) however choices are limited. At large schools, you have a wider selection of houses, but not being involved doesn't affect your social life as much. Joining a sorority or fraternity is an instant way of making friends, but it also takes a lot of committment and time.

How long will you stay, how much will you pay... and what could you have bought?

Teacher

After 4 years at Ball State, on tuition, books and room and board, you can expect to have spent approximately $31,697...you could have bought a cruise for 2 to Tahiti, a llama, 6 dozen roses, and an above ground pool.

Lawyer

After 4 years at Depauw, for tuition, books, room and board, plus three years at IU law school, you can expect to have spent approx. $118,812...you could have bought a Porsche C-4 Turbo, and an indoor basketball court.

Doctor

After 4 years at I.U., for tuition, books, room and board, plus med school, you can expect to have spent approx $91,300...you could have bought a Lexus sports coupe, and made 8 trips to Disney World for a week with a friend.

Engineer

After four years at Rose-Hulman, on tuition, books, and room and board, plus two more years for your MA, you can expect to have spent approx. $181,500...you could have bought a 50ft. Cabin Cruiser, a 1996 Wave-Runner, and a really cool bathing suit.

The 1996 rendition of Romeo and Juliet depicts the problem-filled love affair of two age-old teens. Although this new version is set in the modern world, the producers still used Elizabethean English in the script.

Even though there were additions of hot clothes, fast cars, and deadly guns, they didn't change the classic ending to this famous love story. Leonardo DiCaprio and Claire Daines are able to combine the old with the new, making this movie a box-office hit.

They're Superstars

Whitney Houston
Age: 33
Breakthrough:
Her self-titled debut album appeared in 1985, launching a successful music and acting career. Since then, she has released several popular albums and movies.

Denzel Washington
Age: 43
Breakthrough:
In 1982, better known as Dr. Phillip Chandler on the NBC hospital drama St. Elsewhere, Washington caught the attention of Hollywood casting directors.

Mel Gibson
Age: 41
Breakthrough:
While in drama school, Gibson was cast as the star action hero in Mad Max. The 1987 mega hit, Lethal Weapon, paved the way to his stardom.

Sandra Bullock
Age: 32
Breakthrough:
While at East Carolina University she studied drama, but left before graduating. Playing bit parts, Bullock's big break came from the 1994 hit Speed.

Sound Bites

No Doubt: Tragic Kingdom

Rocking the charts, this group is taking the alternative scene to another level. This foursome has been together since 1987, but didn't see their self-titled debut release until 1992.

New Edition: Home Again

Reunited again, the group released their first album in almost a decade with their hit single "Hit Me Off." They also began a star filled tour with 702, Blackstreet, and Keith Sweat.

Snoop: The Dogg Father

Arriving with much anticipation after his hit album Doggystyle, Snoop gets into a more serious groove. Dedicating the album to his hômeboy, Tupac Shakur, Snoop's songs echo the problems found in ghetto life.

Alanis Morrisette: Jagged LittlePill

Crowned the best new female artist of the year, she launched her biggest selling album in 1995, "Jagged Little Pill" which was nominated for five Grammy awards. Before making her way to the top, she was a character on You Can't Do That On Television.

LeAnn Rimes: Blue

This 14 year old singing sensation rose to the top of the charts as the best country newcomer. Rimes also finished in Billboard's National Top 10 with her hit single "Blue" for which she won a Grammy award.

book shelf

Dennis Rodman: Bad as I Wanna be
Rodman's book may be his way of expressing his opinion on his "bad boy" reputation. Ranging from his career in the NBA to his affair with Madonna, even though he has a very critical view, it is probably the most honest.

John Grisham: The Partner
After stealing 90 million dollars and faking his death, Grisham's newest character Patrick Lanigan is found. Grisham combines his familiar writing style with many new twists, making this a book that will keep readers on the edge of their seats.

Stephen King: Desperation
Stephen King sets the scene in a little town in Nevada where a strange madman lives who considers himself the only law West of the Picos. Not only is this book full of horror, but it has given new meaning to the word "suspense."

Food for Thought

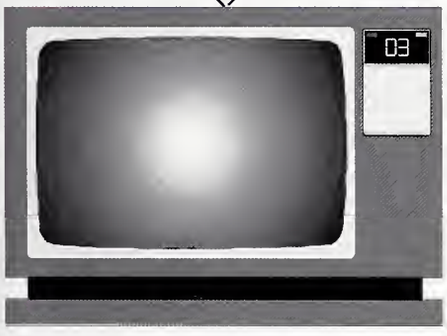
Seinfield



This season's #1 television sitcom made Jerry Seinfeld an even hotter commodity. While NBC saw ratings soar, Seinfeld saw a raise in pay. Fellow cast members, however, weren't too thrilled about his alleged one million per episode and demanded equal pay. Disputes aside, at least audiences have been promised another great season.

E.R.

ER brought in blockbuster ratings from the start, and earned eight Emmy Awards out of 23 nominations in its first season. Now, the current Emmy Award winner for Outstanding Drama Series, the show which stars young medical professionals in a Chicago hospital emergency room, was rated No.1 among adults 18-49 years of age.

Mad About You

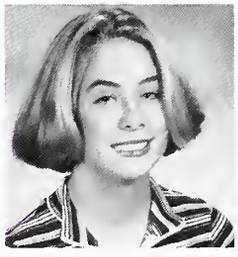
Paul Reiser (My Two Dads, Aliens) and two-time Golden Globe winner Helen Hunt (The Waterdance, Twister) are about to begin the fifth season for their outstanding comedy series Mad About You. They portray former newlyweds who try to sustain their marital bliss, while sidestepping the hurdles of love in the 90's.

the HONEY BUNCH

and how they met...

"I sat in front of him in Spanish class and because of his shyness I didn't even know he liked me until the end of the semester. At first, we only went out for two months and then reunited again a year later and now we've been going out for nine months. We love going to the movies and shopping, but the best memory is prom last year."
April Bruning, 11 Tommy Billermen, 12

"We first met at Creston Jr. High, but started going out as sophomores. His great personality is what has attracted me for the past two years. We enjoy going to movies, out to eat, or just staying at home. The first time we said 'I love you' was the peek of our relationship."
Nicole Folkening, 12 Marcus Swan, 12



"We met during second semester of our English class. I didn't approach her until the end of the year and didn't really talk to her until I started to see her a lot at Warren Little League. We like to do many things as long as we're together, but the best memory we have is when we started going out on the Fourth of July."

Regrets For Life

What date or relationship did you regret the most?

"I regret going on a date with a guy that was high because he embarrassed me in front of all my friends." Chantel Cottrell, 12

"I regret going on a date to the wrestling state finals because we both got up too early and were in bad moods." Joe Kern, 11

"I regret going out on a date with Mike Taylor because he was a nice gentleman, but he acted like a jerk afterwards." Susan Sisk, 11

"I went to the movies with this girl and after I paid for the tickets she left me for a bunch of her friends." Miguel Morales, 11

"The date I most regret would be when I took my date to a party and the whole time we were there she never spoke to me, not once." John Sponsel, 10

"The relationship I regret the most would be when I went out with this one guy and he didn't like my friends, so it was kinda awkward." Sarah May, 11

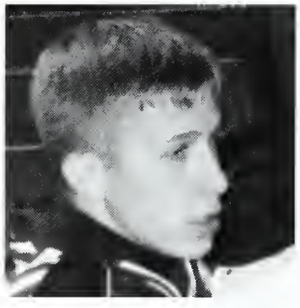
if i hit the game-winning shot? what if i don't finish first? what if i just can't compete? what if we lose the big game? what if i tried? what if we win it all?

It was once said that a season for any team doesn't begin until the tournament, and nothing can be more evident of that than the boys' soccer team's victory in the Regionals.

IT'S GAMETIME

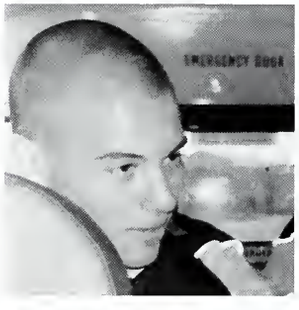
Mr. Roberts
Head Coach

The boys team won their first ever Regional championship, which made Coach Roberts proud. Despite the season being eratic, the team played incredibly well in the tournament. "Our Regional game was a highlight," he said. "It was over Perry Meridian in a shoot-out after the end of regulation and OT."



Joe Barnard
c/o '97

Joe's four years on the soccer team ended on a high note as his most coveted goal was accomplished: to win the Regional. The team couldn't have stuck together if it hadn't been for Mr. Roberts. "He brought so much enthusiasm to each and every game," he said. "I was glad to play for him during my years at WC."



Ryan Cannon
c/o '99

In the midst of a season that turned heads in the tournament, Ryan set out to accomplish the goal of breaking Warren's scoring record in a season set by Brad Griggs, as well as to be team leader. "I believe I did help lead the team this year," said Cannon, "but I fell just short of Brad's record. Maybe next season!"

Damien Patel
c/o '99

Ball control and playing great defense earned Damien a spot on the varsity squad. "I'm not really sure how I accomplished this," Patel said,"I just went out and played hard!" His work ethic was second only to the team's effort. "We didn't have a winning season," he added, "but we could get the job done and that's why we ended up winning both the Sectional and Regional."

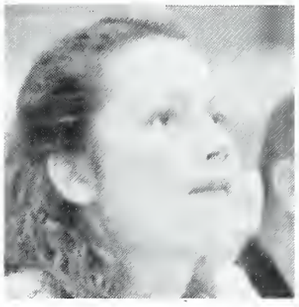
In a season marked by strong determination, the Warren volleyball team captures victories. Although the season was not as good as they would have liked, their spirit was still the greatest win of all.

STANDING STRONG

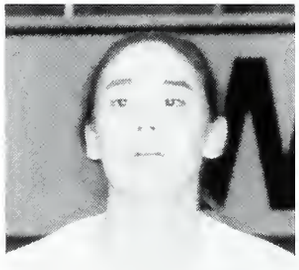


Ms. Plummer
Head Coach

Coach Plummer was upset at the mistakes that cost the team a possible shot at the Sectional championship. However, she doesn't want this to be a problem next season. "The team must sacrifice time in the off-season to be competitive," she said.

Allyson Farkas
c/o '97

As a senior, Allyson was looked upon as a team leader. "I showed some girls the proper techniques of hitting and serving," she said. She also cites that the team had the skills to be very good, but some conflicting attitudes within the squad caused inconsistancies.



Katie Weaver
c/o '00

Katie, a freshman, accomplished one of her goals by making the junior varsity squad, and eventually varsity. This young prodigy felt that the coaching this year was influential in her playing. "This is the first time I've had coaches that knew what they were doing," she said. "They taught me a lot."

Kristina Tobin
c/o '97

An injury at mid-season opened up an opportunity for Kristina as she went from a backrow player to setter. "I had some experience in setting but had trouble adjusting," she explained. "Eventually I, as well as the team, adapted to it." She also felt that , the team remained extremely confident.

The girls' focus this year was to do better and accomplish more than they did last year. Attitude is everything was their creed and the girls showed that they believed with a second place in the sectional.

GETTING FOCUSED

Mrs. Seymour
Head Coach

After the disappointing end to last season, the GXC team surprised many competitors this year with their success. Coach Seymour cites the team's unity and competitiveness as their driving force, but especially mentions another factor. "Coach Hope Sanders has also been a great asset to the girls," she said.

Gina Whitmore
c/o '97

The only returning senior from last season, Gina was made the team co-captain. "I felt I brought a lot of leadership and experience to the team," stated Whitmore,"My co-captain (Ziegler) and I tried very hard to make sure no negative feelings were present between teammates or another individual."

Michelle Ziegler
c/o '98

The other half to the team captains, Michelle did reinforce what Gina had said about keeping team attitudes positive. However, maintaining high spirits was just one of her goals. "Each meet I wanted to improve my times," she confessed. "If I met my goals, I was proud. If I didn't, I had to work harder."

Jerilyn Trotter
c/o '99

By being unrelenting, Jerylin was recognized as one of the team's top five runners. Her goal, like Michelle, was for a faster time. "The goal I set for myself was to drop my time into the seventeen (min.) range," she said. "I went about doing that by believing in myself and constant hard work."

NEVER SAY DIE

Mr. Shelbourne

Head Coach

Even through a tough schedule and injury-filled season, Coach Shelbourne still was proud of the effort put forth by the team, especially the seniors and captains. "We were in just about every game," he said,"we just had some tough losses, such as the OT losses to Carmel, North Central, and LC."

Tom Alstott

c/o '97

As quarterback of the team this season, Tom felt he grabbed some attention by making the MIC all-conference team. "I did my best to keep the team together and tried to stay positive, even when we were losing," he explained. "I tried to make the best decisions both on and off the field."

Preston Wilson

c/o '97

Preston's season, like the team's, was affected by injuries, but despite this setback, he set out to play his best. "I had a great time," he said, commenting on his year. "I'm sure that if we had everyone healthy at the beginning of the season, we wouldn't have lost so many close games."

Joe Scott

c/o '97

Scott let his confidence be a driving force for the team, as he tried to get fellow teammates pumped up in a season riddled with injuries. He cited that the defensive unit played very strong this year, and that the team's offense was unstoppable-when it played together. When asked about his faults, Scott simply said,"I have no weaknesses."

Hard work and commitment allow the Warren girls to be tough on the field and have fun at the same time. The soccer girls are known for their strong spirit.

GETTING FIRED UP

Mr. Roberts
Head Coach

Mr. Roberts spoke very well about the team's work ethic, but said that there was some inconsistancy created by injuries that stopped them from winning more. "There were more injuries this season," he said. "Three players missed all of the season while five others missed significant portions of it."

Jessica Baumgartner
c/o '97

Playing to the best of her ability earned Jessica the honor of just being one of Coach Roberts's MVPs of the season. "We all played with determination and aggression," she explained. "We knew we weren't as skilled as other teams, but we looked past that and continued to play on."

Amy Harrel
c/o '00

Amy is a player that will be a great asset to the team's future. Only a freshman, she tied for leading scorer of the team even though she missed half the season. "The goal I set for myself was to go to varsity this year and I did so by attending every practice and game even when I was injured," she said.

Jamie Donges
c/o '99

Injuries were common on the team this year, and they took a toll on the offense. Despite all of this, Jamie was a great addition to their team. The sophomore starter did her best to spark the team whenever possible. "I scored the very first goal of the season for the team," she said, "which had the team fired up."

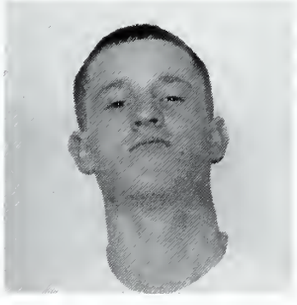
WORK FOR THE WIN

Mr. Shepler
Head Coach

This was a good year for Coach Shepler, considering in his first season he guided the boys tennis team to their first Sectional title in twelve years. He cited the team's ability to compete, however, was why they accomplished this. "It didn't matter who we played," said Shepler, "our opponents knew it would be a dog fight when we met."

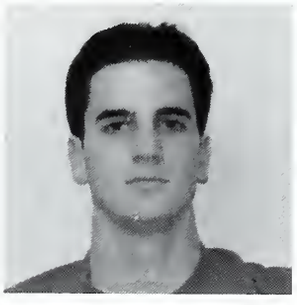


Danny Davidson
c/o '97

Danny's goal to win the Sectionals was realized by the entire team this season. He, as his teammates, contributed with a strong effort for most the season. Their iron will surprised many teams. "Our strong point was that we never gave up," expained Davidson. "We also had good sportsmanship."

Brian Cochran
c/o '97

Brian's year ended on a high note: he was 11-7 and the team advanced to the Regionals. He noted that the team would lose sight of their goals at times, but it wouldn't be too long before motivation and discipline would get them back on track. "I felt that my strong point was that I never gave up and always played hard," he said.



Jeff Hintz
c/o '97

As any upper classman would, Jeff did everything he could to contribute to the team's success. His leadership of the team and the squad's unity led them to their Sectional championship, as well as support from the coach. "For this being his first year, Coach Shepler sure knew how to motivate us," concluded Hintz.

The largest team, with 31 boys, in Warren's cross country history had a very good, but challenging season. The Warriors showed off all their hard work by winning two invitationals and qualifying for semi-state

STARTING STRONG

Mr. Brooks
Head Coach

The boys cross-country team nearly accomplished all of the goals set by Coach Brooks, two of which included finishing in the county's top three (they were 4th) and going to semi-state. Before that meet Coach Brooks said, "So far we have had a great season. It would be great to go beyond semi-state,"

Mike Derryberry
c/o '97

Mike set out to conquer three goals he had set for himself this year: to be on the honor roll, go to the semi-state competition, and to run faster in his meets. He accomplished two of them, since he never received the times he wanted. "I'm a strong runner," he said, "I just didn't have the mental toughness."

Ben Hudelson
c/o '98

Ben's performance depended on the overall output of the team. When the team ran well, he ran well. When the team had injuries, it would also affect him. No matter what the statis of the team, Ben ran his hardest. "By doing my best and pushing others, I felt more was accomplished," he concluded.

Mike Wilson
c/o '97

Mike has been a dependable athlete for the team for the last few years. In that time, he was able to conquer his goal of running under 17 minutes, befriend other members of the team, and to look upon the coaches as his "other fathers". "My weakness," he said, "was knowing this was my last year of running."

This was a year for developing the raw talent of the many new and inexperienced players on the girls team. Despite the rocky season, the girls' 7th place finish in the Sectionals impressed Coach Darko and gave a sign of things to come.

ON THE GREEN

Mr. Darko
Head Coach

This was a learning year for most of his players, and Coach Darko believes that he had his players more interested and involved with the sport. "We have stressed with them that we need a commitment from them to improve their game," he said. "Only with this can we be competitive in the future."

Steffany Thompson
c/o '97

Being one of two seniors on the golf team, Steffany felt she had to be a team leader. So she did what she could with examples such as lending support and keeping a consistant game. She did have one weak point though. "I killed too many innocent animals with my driver," she commented.

Katrina Cawthorne
c/o '98

Katrina felt that the coaching efforts of Coach Darko was more than adequate. In fact, she felt that he was beneficial as a teacher as well. "I had a chemistry test the day of a match," recalled Katrina, "and since I was having trouble studying, Mr. Darko tutored me between the putting and chipping sessions."

Melissa Sawicki
c/o '00

Even if the golf team was fairly young this year, Melissa and her teammates were never intimidated by the veteran teams and she is looking forward to next season. Like Katrina, Melissa felt that the coaching was great. "They did a wonderful job," she commented. "Thank you Mr. Darko and Mr. Reed."

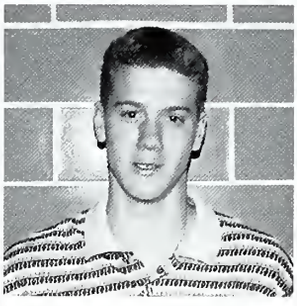
Only a little more than half of the boys swim team members remained after a winless season. Those who stayed were determined to make the most of the situation.

TAKE YOUR MARK

Mr. Webber
Head Coach

They were able to finish in the top ten at the County, but the team didn't reach their goal of winning four dual meets. Coach Webber cites the cause as a lack of committment. "We started the season with 20 swimmers and finished with 11," he said. "This sport is 20 weeks of hard work. It takes discipline."



Jason Tillage
c/o '98

Jason reached his goal of diving with his committment and the support from his teammates, but he feels boys swimming isn't receiving the recognition that it deserves. "There are a lot of people in this school that show us no respect," he said, "however, we appreciate the few that did."

Danny Teater
c/o '00

Danny's attitude was one of his attributes that helped him this season. He kept his head in the game and showed his willingness to swim by showing up at every practice. "I felt practice was a factor in this program," said Danny. "In order to perfect a dive or get a quicker swimming time, you must show up."

D.J. Bragdon
c/o '00

This year's team was small in numbers but big in heart, and D.J. was just a staple of the squad's determination. His desire to break barriers helped him to swim faster than 6:11 in the 500 freestyle. "At the beginning of the season I was overconfident," said D.J., "but all I had to do was my best."

MAKING THE PLAYS

Mr. Clark
Head Coach

It was a good season for the Lady Warriors, but some key losses prevented the team from reaching its goals of winning both the County and Sectional tournaments. "Injuries affected the way we played," said Coach Clark. "We lost Natalie Visker early in the season and then Ronita Whitfield."

Tamara Douglass
c/o '97

Tamara became the team captain of the Lady Warriors when Visker and Whitfield went out for the season. Even if she got a little flustered when the team was down, Douglass brought the team attention with her scoring, rebounding, and tough defense. "I felt I kept the media involved with WC," she said.

Bridgette Smith
c/o '98

Bridgette set out to have a successful season. Her contributions on rebounding and scoring were more than adequate to the team's ambitions, even when everyone wasn't in prime playing condition. "The team stuck together during those tough times we had due to injuries," she said.

Karen Dillon
c/o '98

No one can accuse Karen of not playing 110%. Practicing and playing well, along with encouraging her fellow teammates, Karen had the determination to win this year. "I knew that someone had to step up," said Karen, "so I worked hard in every game and gave it my all."

The wrestling team was at its best this year. With a disciplined attitude, aggressive competitiveness, and desire to win, the Warriors pinned some fair attention.

NO HOLDS BARRED

Mr. Nesbit
Head Coach

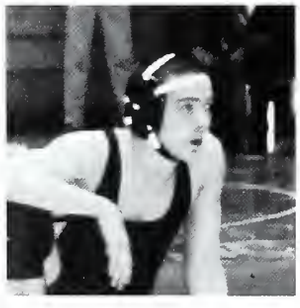
It was a good year for the squad, as they nearly won their Sectional with Beech Grove and sent two of their wrestlers to the state championship. Nesbit cited hard work both on the mats and in the classroom, as the reason for the team's success. "We really improved throughout the season," he said.

Justin Smith
c/o '97

Justin may not have been a state champion, but he did finish the season as one of the top ten wrestlers in the state of Indiana (he placed 9th). His year was successful, as he took in a fistful of awards. "I was a champ in Sectionals, Regionals, Semi-state, Merriville, and North Montgomery," said Smith.

Richard Clevenger
c/o '97

An injured knee might have kept Richard from being an undefeated state champion, but it didn't stop him from being a part of the senior nucleus that led the team. "Our team this year had a strong senior class," noted Clevenger. "All of us tried to lead the rest by example."



Gary Lett
c/o '98

MSA is where Gary wants to be for the finals next year, since he and his team fell just short of accomplishing that goal this season. Lett had his feet planted firm in each of the meets and was determined to appease his team. "When the team needed points, I went out and got them," he added.

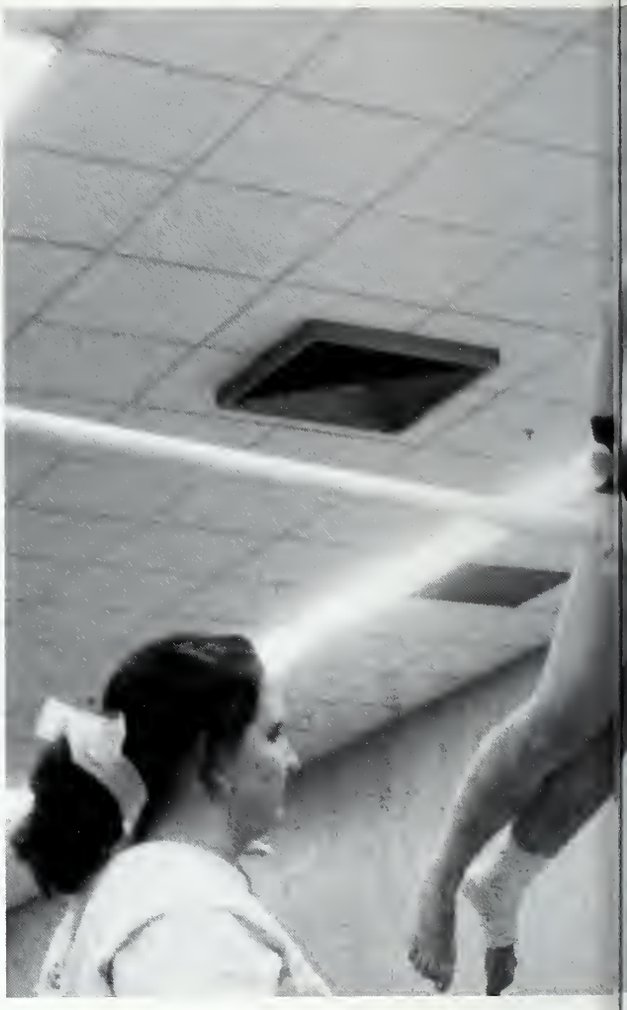
TEAMWORK WINS



Mrs. Seymour
Head Coach

Coach Seymour had a very well-rounded team this season. Not only did the team have great senior leadership, but the underclassmen, such as Amie Bone and Ashley Holden, also drove the team to new heights. "The girls did an outstanding job of working toward a common goal-the Regionals," she concluded.

April Harvey
c/o '97

In the midst of the season, April was looking forward to accomplishing the team goal: to capture the state championship. Through unity, willingness, and executing original routines, she feels optimistic of the team's chances. "We have a strong team this year," said April. "I'm proud of all the girls."

Stacey Boots
c/o '97

Stacey led the team through her senior experience. She was positive about the team's output, but at times she felt uncertain with her own performance. Doing her best, Stacey wanted to win the state championship. "I've worked my hardest and added some new tricks to my routine," she concluded.

Amanda Cecrle
c/o '99

Where she had trouble with the vault, Amanda made up for it with the beam and floor. This sophomore stayed fairly consistant throughout the season and contributed to the team with some solid scores. "I practiced my routines," said Cecrle, "I feel that I've accomplished my goals."

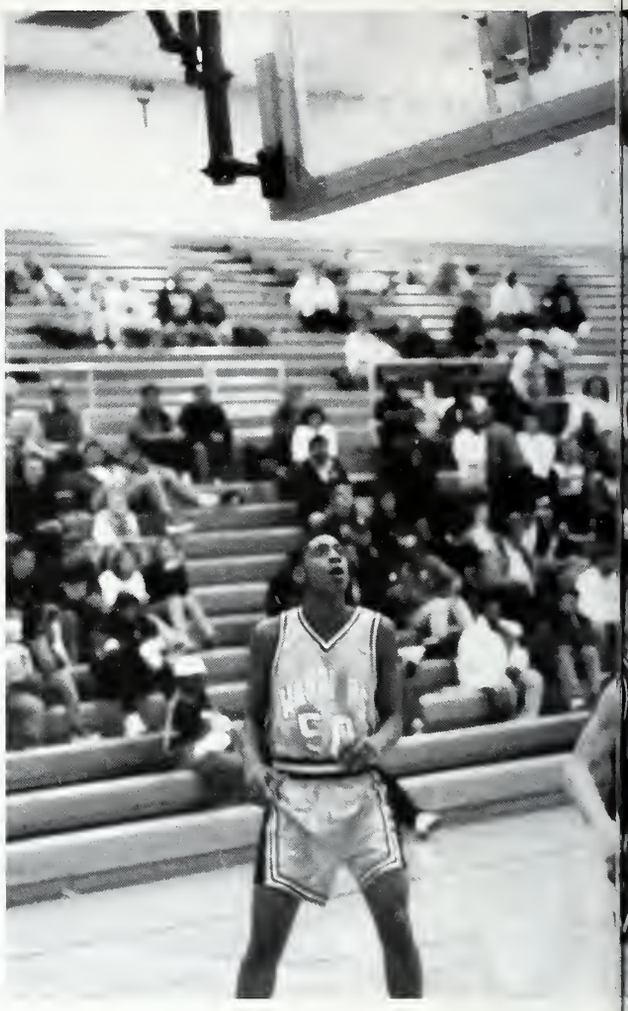
Improving more and more each game the Warriors had a good season considering inexperience. Going to the semi-finals in the county tournament and 13 victories proved the team's endurance.

REACH FOR GOALS



Mr. Heady
Head Coach

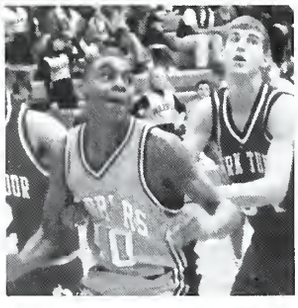
The key term is turn around in coach Heady's program. In his second year, the Warriors won 13 games, the most since 1989, and reached the County semi-finals. "The main goal was to improve throughout the season and to be a contender in the state tournament," he said. "I think we did that."

Danny Davidson
c/o '97

Danny's size didn't dictate the way he played, as he averaged up to15. 2 points and 5.4 assists a game. The senior captain's hard efforts, as well as his excellent ball handling and tight defense, contributed to the success of this young team. "We practiced hard and gave it one-hundred percent," he said.

Elliot Green
c/o '98

Next year Elliot will be a leader of this talented team, and it's apparent that he can handle the mantle. His 31-point performance against North Central proved him to be a dangerous opponent to any team. "I didn't want to lose my starting position," he said to explain his motivation for this past season.



Derrick Miller
c/o '99

This sophomore sensation contributed to the team with his defense, rebounding, and shooting over 59% from the floor. Derrick also credited Coach Heady for the team's success. "Two years ago, we had a losing season, but when he came to the team, we were willing to make things better," he said.

It takes dedicated athletes to compete in the pool. The training is grueling and long, but it pays off for the determined women of the girls swim team.

STANDING AS ONE

Mr. Logan
Head Coach

Coach Logan felt that the lack of upperclassmen to provide the experience, leadership, and depth for the team could not discourage the effort and dedication put forth by the underclassmen. "Our main goal every season is to improve their preseason perfomances," he said.

Katy Hicks
c/o '99

Proof of a dedicated underclassman, Katy would go out in each practice and every meet and push herself beyond her limits, even if it meant swimming with strained muscles and sinus infections. "My health had a minor affect, but no matter how high the obstacle, I overcame it," concluded Katy.

Rachel Kriech
c/o '00

Planning to make the first cut of the sectionals, Rachel pulled it off by practicing her dives after school hours. She had to go through various obstacles to really get her dives down to a routine. "I never gave up on myself," she said. "I always did what it took to accomplish my goals."

Kristi Spears
c/o '99

Falling just one short of a 100-point season, Kristi's performance has shown improvement. With year-round training she knocked four seconds off her time in the 100M Butterfly. Spears feels that her coach helped her. "Mr. Logan is the best coach I've had," she said. "he's very serious about swimming."

A young team with only three seniors to lead it, the softball team shocked some teams with a talent that will one day take more than expected.

STEALING HOME

Mr. Stroud
Head Coach

Coach Stroud had two goals for the team this past season. "One, to become the best team we could be and two, to win a tourney," he explained. And the youthful team did so under his guidance, as they not only stayed competitive and together, but also crushed North Central and Chatard in the NC Invite.

Jennifer Delk
c/o '97

Jennifer had no trouble getting the team hyped up for a game, but the team was fairly young. With just three seniors, the team wasn't as ready for pressure as Jennifer and her fellow upperclassmen. Still, her goals remained the same. "I want to have a lot of fun and win a lot of softball games," she said.

Natalie Visker
c/o '97

Natalie never liked being on the sidelines and watch her team perform without her. "Anyone who's been sidlined due to injury, like I have been, can agree that thinking about everyone else playing and having fun while you sit there recuperating makes you value your ability and health more," she said.

Angie Hancock
c/o '97

In hopes of winning the County and the Sectional, Angie believed through hard work, unity, and good attitudes that the team could pull that off. To have a chance at either, they had to realize that time played a factor. "My driving force is 'If not now, when,' since this is my senior year," she said.

The boys track team not only ran for themselves and their team, they ran to be the best. After graduating several key athletes the year before, the team proved they would be back on top in the future.

ON THEIR MARKS

Mr. McNulty
Head Coach

The season was good for the track team, as they ranked 8th in state competition. Even though Coach McNulty trained his athletes well, there is one thing he especially stressed. "Respect! Each young man respects each other, respects their opponent, and respects what it takes to be great," he said.

William Bumphus
c/o '98

A member of the two-time IHSAA state champion track team, William performs his best when all eyes are on him. He also gives a great deal of credit to the coaching staff, a staff he called the best in the world. "Our team is very well-organized and has the potential to do well and get tight," he said.

Justin Smith
c/o '97

In order to accomplish what he set out to do, Justin practiced harder and harder to run the 400 meter dash within 50 seconds. Running on a team that hates to lose, Justin is motivated by the potential of his opponents. "There is someone out there that is bigger and faster than you," he said.

Paul Harden
c/o '97

One of the members of the 1996 championship team, Paul is an all-around good athlete. He runs the 400m, the 800m, and the 4 X 400 well. What pushes him to his limits, however, is the loss of his brother to leukemia in 1994. "Every time I think of him I get motivated," Harden concluded.

DETERMINED

Mrs. Brooks
Head Coach

Coaches often are credited by their athletes, but Mrs. Brooks thinks otherwise. "Tony Hinkle (Butler University fame) said, 'Good athletes know how to motivate themselves,'" she said. "Our team does not depend on the coaches for motivation. They know what to do."

Carol Dillon
c/o '98

Carol will become a senior leader on her team next season, and it appears that she has the capability to do so. Keeping her teammates' spirits up, as well as enjoying the sport she loves, Carol finds it very easy to draw inspiration. "The talent of the younger players keeps me motivated," she said.

Andrea Mumaugh
c/o '00

Andrea, one of the talented younger players, will be gaining attention in the years to come. A probable varsity player next year, she often plays sets against older and more experienced players. "That just makes me want to win even more and to prove that freshmen can do something," said Mumaugh.

Erin Smith
c/o '97

Improvement was a goal that Erin took seriously. Each match she tried to avoid a double fault and win more than she did in previous matches. She sometimes struggled during her game, but she always tried to stay positive. "I want to always play my best and play point by point," she said.

SCORING POSITION

Mr. Preston
Head Coach

This past season, the weather was kinder to Mr. Preston's team, giving them a chance to realize their true talents. With players that work hard and want to win, Mr. Preston felt confident about them. "The players take pride in their abilities and need very little motivation," he said.

Brian Richards
c/o '97

Being number one is very important to Brian, who strives to improve his game day in and day out. When it comes down to the clutch, Richards steps up his game whether it be on the field or at the plate. "I want to be the best that I can be," Richards explained, "and I hope to get a scholarship."

Jeryn Crouch
c/o '97

Jeryn was one of the most versatile players on the field this year for Warren Central. He could hit the ball with a great amount of ease, pitch fairly well, and defend first base or home plate strongly. "My goal is to always improve and win. I accomplish this through concentration," said Crouch.

Brad Sparks
c/o '97

Brad felt that this was one of the better teams he had played on. A team that was talented at every position had an obvious effect on his performance. An example of that effect was the game with Perry Meridian. "I had two three run homers and pitched five innings, only giving up one run," Sparks said.

It was a transition year for the girls track team. With a new coach, as well as having new team members, they had to face their challenges head on.

GOING THE DISTANCE

Mr. Prusiecki

Head Coach

Competition for the team had been tough. The ending hides the true nature of their competitiveness. Coach Prusiecki kept the team going with the desire to defend their Sectional championship. "We hoped to do it through consistant training and improving performances at each meet," he said.

Ronita Whitfield

c/o '97

Ronita's performance can be summed up in one word competitive. She worked hard for what she wanted, and more than anything she wanted to break the school's shotput record. "I try my best not to have any weaknesses," Whitfield said. "If I do have any weaknesses, I can't really point them out."

Kristene Blount

c/o '97

The record doesn't show the effort that was put forth by the team. As a senior member of the girls track team, Kristene explained. "We did really well in all of our events, but when it came to the 1600M and the 3200M, we lost our place and dropped. We tried hard, but we just needed to continue to work."

Candice Green

c/o '98

Candice seemed to be pretty good in most of her events: the 4X100 relays, sprinting, the long jump, and both the 100M and the 200M. In fact, her skills in these events have her setting higher limits. "The goal I have set for myself is to break the school record in the 100 and 200 before I graduate," Green said.

A team almost exclusively made up of seniors, experience was a strong suit for the golf team. Only eleven strokes from winning the County, it proved to be more.

WITHIN DRIVING RANGE

Mr. Jacob
Head Coach

The increasing popularity of golf has sparked a great deal of interest in the sport. Coach Jacob has been especially elated about this, as he saw the growth of his team. "A highlight for me this season has been expanding the golf program to include a freshman team and schedule," he concluded.

Steve Witchie
c/o '97

The golf season seemed to be in the favor with Steve, who saw the opportunity of a probable County championship. His consistant gameplay was a great asset to the team's other talented players. "Our biggest factor will be realizing our potential," said Steve. "If we do that, the sky's the limit."

Matt Seibel
c/o '97

Matt, an avid player, has spent the past four years competing on the green. He, the Witchies and Jeff Hintz played high school golf when they were in junior high and were placed on the varsity squad as freshmen. "And we all continued to play varsity throughout high school," he concluded.

Joe Witchie
c/o '97

The game of golf takes a great deal of concentration. If you get the least bit flustered, it can cost you, Joe explained. "It isn't easy to not get frusterated, but you have to try and get as much out of a round as you can because of the team that's what I try to do," he said.

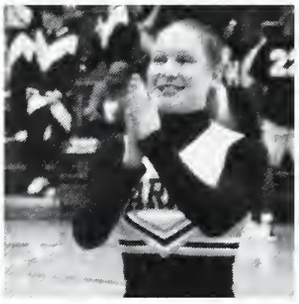
Cheerleaders are the ultimate sports fans. They don't just root for the hometeam. They become just as physical as any athlete would in order to lead on the cheering masses.

GOING BEYOND

Kathy Knoy
c/o '97

Her older sister being a cheerleader peaked Kathy's interests in becoming one as well. Her dedication to this activity is a year-long labor, but she loves it when autmn rolls around. "I like to cheer for football because we're outside and the crowd is really excited for each game," Kathy said.



Ann Grill
c/o '97

When she entered the 7th grade, Ann donned her pom-poms and led the fans through many spirited rallies. Just as there is team-work out on the court, there is teamwork within her squad. "We have to trust each other in order to be successful," she said. "Safety is very important."

Leah Lepper
c/o '97

For four years, Leah has been rooting for the Warriors from the sidelines. When both football and basketball seasons are over, she still works on her routines. "We practice all year long," she said. "We have competitions all year so we really need to stay on top of things."

During the winterfest pep rally, the girls got the crowd involved by spelling out the school initials to pump up the spirit. They also participated in the bonfire during homecoming week. Senior cheerleaders Leah Lepper and Ann Grill pose for the camera while cheering at a football game. The cheerleading squad placed 6th in the state fair competition over the summer and placed in the Regionals to advance to the statewide competition in November.

The boys tennis team supports their Sectional championship trophy in the air by defeating Perry Meridian. This was the first time in twelve years that the boys had won the Sectional tournament. They were defeated in Regionals by Brebeuf.

Track team members pray before the Sectional meet at Warren Central. Although the track team had won two consecutive state championships in 1995 and 1996, this year only eight members qualified for the state competition: Will Bumphus, Justin Smith, Jamel Perryman, Anthony Hoosier, Michael Brooks, James Harney and Morris Childs.

Senior Steve Ross is lifted into the air by teammates Ben Horner, Joe Barnard, Joe Alden, Matt Cobb, and Matt Griggs after scoring the game winning goal with the final penalty kick in overtime against Perry Meridian during Regionals. This was the first Regional Championship in the school's history for boy's soccer. The final score was 3-2.

Technology in the Classroom

Internet

By signing-on to the internet students have found yet another resource in the media center for various classroom projects.

Instead of searching through the card catalog, students were heading to the computer labs to begin their search for information to help with assignments and projects for various classes. The rise in technology brought advantages to students throughout the year by providing more current and accurate information. Signing on to the internet provided students with a new way of researching material for many different classroom assignments. "The internet gives access to information that the students wouldn't normally have, it also is more current," said media specialist Patsy Katterjohn.

A common use of the internet was finding material for research papers in English classes. "While writing my paper on sexual discrimination, I looked up some of the different cases on the internet," said junior Stephanie Martin.

The internet was not limited to English classes, some students in the math department were logging on also. "Our class had an assignment where we had a certain amount of money to invest in stocks. We used the internet to look up our stocks instead of the newspaper so we could get the most current quote," said junior Aaron Wicks.

Having the internet available for research was beneficial for both the school and Walker Career Center. "I used the internet to find out about different truck dealers when doing a report for my diesel mechanics class," said senior Fred Norwood.

Although some complications came with internet usage, the main problem was the amount of information students would find on a given subject. "There is so much available some students will get a million hits and have to wade through all of it to find what they need. Most students don't have enough time or get bored with it," added Katterjohn.

Technology brought advantages to students throughout the year by providing more current and accurate information. No longer were students wading through books, instead they were surfing the world wide web.

Establishing Common Ground

The MIC Conference

The Metropolitan Interscholastic Conference unified Warren with seven other schools including Ben Davis, Carmel, Lawrence North, Terre Haute North, Terre Haute South, Center Grove, and North Central, through academics, athletics, and clubs.

Trying to find a way to unite schools, typically thought of as rivals on the playing fields wasn't an easy task, but the Metropolitan Interscholastic Conference did just that. "The idea behind the conference was to work smarter, not harder by working together and sharing ideas with other schools, " said Student Activities Coordinator Mrs. Beth Wolff.

In October, a Student Activities Conference was held at Center Grove High School. Each of the eight schools had one representative from each club and athletic team present. "I know I learned a lot that day at the conference. Meeting kids from other schools let me know an outside opinion about our athletic teams. I also learned that most athletes are totally different when they are away from the playing field or court," said senior Mike Fitzgerald.

Trying to find a way to involve large numbers of students in the conference, Student Council hosted a MIC Leadership Conference in March. Student leaders spent the day in sessions discussing topics such as school climate, community projects, and event planning. "The entire day was a success. Having people from all the other MIC schools was great. Everyone got to know a little about each other and their schools. It was a great day to learn from each other and have fun," said sophomore Chad Smothers.

Other clubs including the athletic trainers and Owl newspaper staff also found ways of becoming involved with the MIC throughout the year. "The MIC has been beneficial this year because it lets us compare ourselves with other schools to help find ways for improvement," said Owl adviser Mr. Mark Haab.

A Ride to Desegregation

Busing

In May of 1954, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in Brown vs. Board of Education that racial segregation in public schools was against the law. What followed would be years of change and an ongoing debate.

Boundaries in the fall of 1981 were extended to allow 1,282 African-American students into Warren Township due to the 1973 court order of Federal Judge S. Hugh Dillon. In January of 1997, this ruling was challenged by Indianapolis Public School officials and superintendent Esperanza Zendejas. If the decision would have been overturned it would have put an end to the busing of approximately 5,500 students into six school districts: Decatur, Franklin, Lawrence, Perry, Wayne, and Warren Township.

Through the years Warren Township has become a naturally integrated school. The township now has an African-American resident student population of 1,423 with 1,262 students being bused in from other districts.

The driving motivation behind IPS's desire to have the students returned is money, money other townships get. Warren Township receives $10,182, 991 in total desegregation fees that is divided into a general fund and transportation fund. While the money is a buffer, it is not the compelling force behind wanting to keep the busing order in place.

"The most compelling reason supporting our position on busing is that we know it is in the best educational interest of all students to continue receiving their education in Warren Township Schools," said Director of School and Community Relations Phil Douglas.

What if you could teach a child anything, what would it be and why?

Tammy Jones, class of '97

I would teach a child to be thankful for all that is given to them and to not search for happiness. Happiness can be found in the home with those who love you, it can't be bought.

Angie Walters

class of 1997

It seems like only yesterday that you were our little girl. You've grown into a beautiful young lady. We're proud of the individual you've become. Whatever path you take in life, let God guide the way for you.

Congratulations!
We love you very much!
Mom, Dad, and Anthony

Reflection on Children

"One of these days you'll shout, "Why don't you kids grow up and act your age!" And they will. Or you'll say, "Kids, get outside and find yourselves something to do...and don't slam the door!" And they won't.

You'll straighten the boys' bedrooms neat and tidy...bumper stickers discarded ...spread tucked and smooth...toys displayed on the shelves. Hangers in the closet with clothes attached. Animals caged. And you'll say out loud, "Now I want it to stay just like this!" And it will.

You'll prepare a perfect dinner with a salad that hasn't been picked to death and a cake with no finger traces in the icing, and you'll say, "Now there's a meal for company!" And you'll eat it alone.

You'll say, "I want complete privacy on the phone. No dancing around. No pantomimes. No demolition crews. Silence! Do you hear?" And you'll have it.

No more plastic placemats stained with spaghetti. No more spreads to protect sofas from damp bottoms and dusty shoes. No more gates to stumble over in the doorway of the baby's room. No more hot wheels or Barbie dolls under the couch. No more playpens to arrange a room around.

No more anxious nights under a vaporizer tent. No more cracker crumbs on the sheets. No more wall-to-wall water in the bathroom. No more iron-on patches. No wet knotted shoelaces, pants with knees out, or rubber bands for pony tails.

Imagine, a lipstick with a point on it. Not having to get a babysitter on New Year's Eve. Family washing only once a week. Seeing a steak that isn't ground. Marketing wih only groceries in the basket. No PTA meetings. No more car pools. No blaring radios or Sesame Street three times a day on the television. No more washing her hair at 9 o'clock at night...and no more wondering where is the family car? Having your own roll of Scotch Tape.

Think about it. No more Christmas presents out of construction paper and will-hold glue. No more sloppy oatmeal kisses. No more tooth fairy. No more giggles in the dark. No knees to heal; no responsibility. Only a voice crying, "Why don't you grow up!" And the silence echoing, "I did!"

Irma Bombeck

We love you Heather and we are so proud of you.

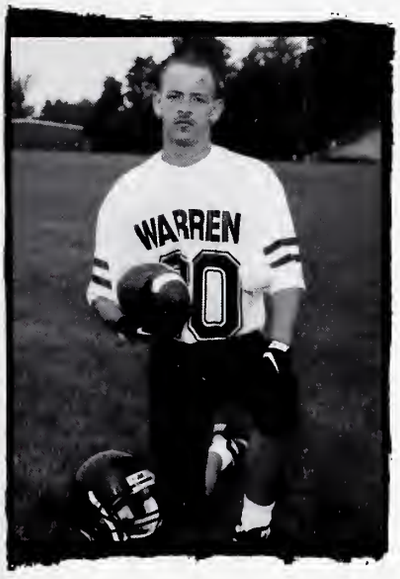
What if you knew there wasn't going to be a tomorrow, what would you do today?

Matt Forbes, class of '97

If I couldn't ignore it, I'd quit my job and go out with a bang. I'd probably join all of the looters and party animals. Let others go cry about destruction, I'd have some fun for a change even if it only lasted one day.

Paul Garrett Harden, Jr.

class of 1997



To my beloved son,

It doesn't seem that long ago that you were a charming toddler, running around the house doing things that made me smile. Now you are a young man, still charming, graduating from high school, and entering another phase of life. My prayer is that you will remember all that you've been taught concerning strength, integrity, fairness, responsibility, love, and most important, God. In doing this you will stand strong, your falls will be few, you will be successful and I will continue to smile and when you need it most, I will still be there to hold you close.

All my love,
Mom

What if you could be anyone but yourself, who would you be and why?

Samantha Gray, class of '00

If I had the choice of being anyone I wanted, I would want to be the person I am now. I might want to be a wealthier or healthier me, but I would definitely be me. I am proud of who I am now.

What if you found out you won a million dollars, how would you celebrate?

Bianca Garrett, class of '99

I would go on a shopping spree and buy everything I ever wanted. I would buy an expensive car and a house. I'd give the rest to charities and some to my parents.

It began with searching for an image or attitude that would not only appeal to, but represent the student body of Warren Central. After looking through the book, A Blip in the Continuum, typography by Robin Williams and illustration by John Tollett, and finding a Nike ad that stated Who In The Hell Do You Think You Are? our search was over and the WHEELS in our creative minds BEGAN TO TURN. We did things in our layouts that people said couldn't and shouldn't be done, but we really didn't care. We were setting a trend with this book and we can't wait to see who follows 1000 copies of the 60th volume of the yearbook were printed by Herff Jones Yearbooks at the cost to students of $35 each. Mrs. Cathy Wolfe served as the Herff Jones representative and Mrs. Nancy Williams was the in-plant consultant. Ms. Alison Brown was the Yearbook Adviser and Mr. Mark Haab was the Publications Director. The book was printed on 80 lb. bordeaux paper. All photos were taken and developed in Warren Central's darkroom by the staff photographers, or taken and developed by Prestige Portraits. All layouts were created on Pagemaker 6.0 software.

Doyou remember when...

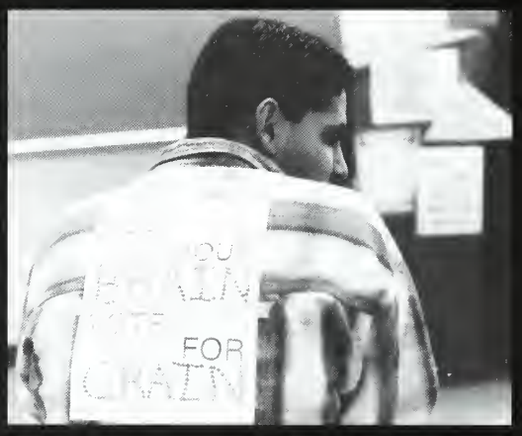
It was such a great year that even JANE PAULEY and DATELINE NBC stopped by, so she could get reacquainted with her alma mater. We appeared nationwide on a Tuesday night and we finally saw the recognition that our school deserved. The mayor, STEVE GOLDSMITH visited in April to speak at a student council meeting about our ~~Campaign for Respect~~ and all the great things that were going on in our city, like the talk of a new arena for our Pacers, busing, and the movement of the NCAA offices to downtown Indianapolis. MR. ALBANO was named Indiana High School Principal of the Year for 1996; and when the University of Kentucky came into town for the FINAL FOUR, we were so nice, that we gave up our gym for a few hours just so they could practice. It makes you think what a year, what a year. There was so much going on, we just wanted to make sure you remembered some of the highlights.



so now that it's all said and done with. how do you feel about it?

What if?
